

POLYURETHANE ELASTOMERS AND A PROCESS FOR THEIR PREPARATION AND USE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Polyurethane elastomers having a defined node density are produced from specific polyetherester polyols. These elastomers are particularly useful for the production of microcellular and solid polyurethane elastomer components.